III. Current Marital Status:

☐ Never been married ☐ Engaged to be married ☐ Married ☐ Divorced and not remarried

☐ Divorced and remarried ☐ Widowed and not remarried

If you are remarried, even though you have a divorce you will still need to receive a Declaration of Nullity by the Catholic Church for you to be eligible to become Catholic. The Catholic Church holds marriage to be sacred and permanent; according to Jesus' own words in Matthew 19 – a marriage has to be lawful.

A Declaration of Nullity normally takes 1 year to complete, so if you need a Declaration of Nullity, it is most likely that you would have to wait until next year's class to be eligible to come into the Catholic Church.

If you are married or engaged, please provide the following information as it applies:
